EXPLANATORY NOTE

It is a general perception that being employed in the government entails a financial sacrifice brought about by low salaries and allowances which are oftentimes not commensurate with the duties required by the position to which a person is appointed. This is sometimes aggravated when government employees performing similar duties and functions are not adequately compensated in comparison with their counterparts from other departments, bureaus and offices because the latter receive higher salaries than them. Such a situation causes demoralization in the ranks which adversely affects the professionalism expected from them.

Although the government had come up with measures that seek to standardize the compensation of government officials and employees, there are still inequalities in the salaries and allowances of some personnel who are performing similar duties that need looking into. One of these pertains to uniformed personnel who perform law enforcement functions. Uniformed personnel of the Armed Forces of the Philippines (AFP) and the Philippine National Police (PNP) substantially receive similar pay and allowances. However, this does not hold true with respect to their uniformed counterparts in other offices of the government, such as the Bureau of Immigration (BI), Bureau of Customs (BoC) and Bureau of Corrections (BuCor), who receive very much less in terms of pay and allowances compared to them. This is despite the fact that they are exposed to the same dangers to their physical well-being that place their lives in jeopardy.

This proposed bill will address the afore-mentioned inequality and boost the morale and welfare of the uniformed personnel who continue to perform their duties and responsibilities with dedication and sacrifice despite their low salaries, as compared to their counterparts.
