AN ACT
PROVIDING FOR A MANDATORY PERIOD TO RELOCATE SQUATTERS, GRANTING DISTURBANCE FEES TO OWNERS OF ILLEGALLY OCCUPIED RESIDENTIAL LAND

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The severe lack of affordable housing in the Philippines greatly contributed to the proliferation of squatters in the urban areas, particularly in Metro Manila. The squatting problem was considered one of our major problems that the Marcos regime issued Presidential Decree No. 772, which made squatting unlawful. However, notwithstanding the existence of the Anti-Squatting Law, the problem on squatting continued. It is thus quite perplexing that even before giving protection to the legitimate landowners, Republic Act No. 7279, otherwise known as the Urban Development and Housing Act of 1992, was passed discouraging the eviction and demolition of illegal dwellings. R.A.No. 7279 also mandates the local government units, in coordination with national housing agencies, to provide squatters adequate relocation and financial assistance should relocation not be possible within a specific period. It also prohibits the construction of illegal dwellings but this provision would simply become awriting on the wall because Republic Act No. 8386 decriminalized squatting giving formidable strength to squatters' rights.

The noble objectives of these social legislations are primarily to protect the rights of the underprivileged and homeless citizens but no protection has been granted to legitimate land titleholders. The issue of relocating or resettling the squatters has become a dilemma either due to inadequacy of funds or relocation sites, or plain lack of political will on the part of the government officials concerned.

This bill seeks to provide a mandatory period in the relocation of squatters. It also seeks to compensate the landowners in case of failure of the local government unit concerned to act on the request for assistance to evict illegal occupants within the prescribed period. The foremost intention of this measure is to provide equal protection to the squatters and to the landowners.- measure will not only give full meaning to the noble objectives of R.A. No. 7279 but will also minimize, if not totally eliminate squatting because local government units will be compelled to monitor vacant lands to prevent trespassers from constructing illegal structures within their respective localities. This is a Senate counterpart bill to one filed in the House of Representatives by Rep. Emilio C. Macias II.¹
