First Regular Session

House Bill No. 288

Introduced by Hon. Michael Odylon L. Romero

EXPLANATORY NOTE

It has been said that one can find a Filipino in practically any part of the world. The Commission on Filipinos Overseas reports that as of December 2009, there were 8,579,378 Filipinos overseas, more than half of which or about 4,522,438 were temporary workers. While the United States remains the top destination for permanent residency, the same data reports that one Filipino is a permanent resident in the Falkland Islands, and also one in Montenegro in Europe. And while Saudi Arabia remains to be traditional destination for temporary workers, there were 15 Filipinos working in Kyrgyzstan, and 41 Filipinos in the Isle of Man, a little known self-governing dependency of the United Kingdom, which can be found in the Irish Sea somewhere between Great Britain and Ireland. Even at a time when the government bans the deployment of workers to certain countries like Iraq and Afghanistan, the record shows that still, Filipinos went there to work. North Korea, infamous for threatening the world with its nuclear power, was the employment destination of 15 Filipinos in 2009.

Such is the Filipino diaspora that, especially in the last 30 years, remittances from overseas Filipinos had steadily grown and consistently bolstered the economy especially in times of economic crises. Preliminary data from the Banko Sentral ng Pilipinas show that from January to December 2010, total remittances stood at US$18.763 billion or Php 846.398 billion, which is 8.68 percent of our gross national product for the same year. These remittances are pumped into the economy through the increased spending of the families of the migrant workers. The absence of this spending would lead to the contraction of the economy. Collorarily, if the overseas remittances were to go to the national coffers, this amount would have funded more than half of the national budget which in 2010, was at PhP1.54 trillion.

The remittances for 2010 is 18.16 percent higher than the PhP17.348 billion remittance in 2009. It has been steadily increasing over the years and is expected to increase even more. This is not surprising considering that, according to the Philippine Overseas Employment Administration (POEA), about 3,000 Filipinos leave daily for employment abroad.

Despite the significant contributions of our overseas Filipino workers over the years, there is no single agency in the government which attends to their needs. Recent events like the floods in Australia and the earthquake in New Zealand, the uprisings in Egypt and in Libya, and the most recent, the massive earthquake followed by the destructive tsunami in Japan, have highlighted once again the need to enhance our capability in servicing migrant Filipino workers. It is during emergencies, that our people are very vulnerable due to the lack of manpower and resources to address their immediate concerns.

In the case of Libya, while we commend the new Secretary of Foreign Affairs for immediately responding to the needs of our OFWs as soon as he was sworn into office, it cannot be denied that there was already a lag time between the start of the crisis up to the time that we were able to repatriate many of our OFWs in Libya. Before then, our OFWs were reported to have complained that they hardly felt any government assistance in their run for safety. In the tsunami-damaged Japan, we could only heave a sigh of relief that there is no Filipino casualty. But had the results been different, it would have mounted even more pressure on our government.

It is about time therefore for government to realign its resources so that we can be responsive to the needs of our OFWs. Let us create an agency which can take full charge in their deployment or repatriation, when the need arises. There should be one which will be made accountable to the OFWs and their families.

If there is even just one Filipino who wants to leave any country because he does not feel safe there anymore, then it is the moral duty of the government to bring him to safety. It is not enough that we call them our "Bagong Bayani"; it is about time that we convert this label into action. Let us create the Department of Overseas Workers, NOW!

FIRST REGULAR SESSION

House Bill No. 288

Introduced by Hon. Michael Odylon L. Romero

AN ACT
CREATING THE DEPARTMENT OF OVERSEAS WORKERS, RATIONALIZING
THE ORGANIZATION AND FUNCTIONS OF GOVERNMENT AGENCIES
RELATED TO
OVERSEAS EMPLOYMENT, AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES

Be it enacted by the Senate and the House of Representatives in Congress assembled:

CHAPTER I

GENERAL PROVISIONS

4 Section 1. Short Title. – This Act shall be known as the "Department of 5 Overseas Workers Act".

7 Sec. 2. Declaration of Policies. –

8 (a) In the pursuit of an independent foreign policy and while
9 considering national sovereignty, territorial integrity, national interest
10 and the right to self-determination paramount in its relations with other
11 states, the State shall, at all times, uphold the dignity of its citizens

1 whether in the country or overseas, in general, and Filipino migrant
2 workers, in particular, continuously monitor international conventions,
3 adopt/be signatory to and ratify those that guarantee protection to our
4 migrant workers, and endeavor to enter into bilateral agreements with
5 countries hosting overseas Filipino workers.

6 (b) The State shall afford full protection to labor, local and
7 overseas, organized and unorganized, and promote full employment
8 and equality of employment opportunities for all. Towards this end, the 9 State shall provide adequate and timely social, economic and legal
10 services to Filipino migrant workers.

11 (c) While recognizing the significant contribution of Filipino
12 migrant workers to the national economy through their foreign
13 exchange remittances, the State does not promote overseas
14 employment as a means to sustain economic growth and achieve
15 national development. The existence of the overseas employment
16 program rests solely on the assurance that the dignity and fundamental 17 human rights and freedoms of the Filipino citizens shall not, at any 18 time, be compromised or violated. The State, therefore, shall 19 continuously create local employment opportunities and promote the 20 equitable distribution of wealth and the benefits of development.

21 (d) The State affirms the fundamental equality before the law of 22 women and men and the significant role of women in nation building.
23 Recognizing the contribution of overseas migrant women workers and
24 their particular vulnerabilities, the State shall apply gender sensitive
25 criteria in the formulation and implementation of policies and programs
26 affecting migrant workers and the composition of bodies tasked for the 27 welfare of migrant workers.

1 (e) Free access to the courts and quasi-judicial bodies and
2 adequate legal assistance shall not be denied to any person by reason
3 of poverty. In this regard, it is imperative that an effective mechanism
4 be instituted to ensure that the rights and interest of distressed
5 overseas Filipinos, in general, and Filipino migrant workers in particular,
6 whether or not with the required documentation, are adequately
7 protected and safeguarded.

8 (f) The right of Filipino migrant workers and of all overseas
9 Filipinos to participate in the democratic decision-making processes of 10 the State and to be represented in institutions relevant to overseas
11 employment is recognized and guaranteed.

12 (g) The State recognizes that the most effective tool for 13 empowerment is the possession of skills by migrant workers. The 14 government shall expand skills development and enhancement
15 programs of the concerned agencies and shall facilitate access of 16 overseas Filipino workers to these programs through scholarships
17 and/or training subsidies/grants. Pursuant to this and as soon as 18 practicable, the government shall deploy and/or allow the deployment
19 only of skilled Filipino workers.

20 (h) The State recognizes that non-governmental organizations,
21 trade unions, workers associations, and other similar duly accredited
22 entities, are partners of the State in the protection of Filipino migrant 23 workers and in the promotion of their welfare. The State shall 24 cooperate with them in a spirit of trust and mutual respect. The
