EIGHTEENTH CONGRESS
First Regular Session

HOUSE BILL NO. 2905

Introduced by Rep. Precious Hipolito Castelo

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The intention of this proposed measure is to prescribe television rating codes for children and to prohibit violent and sexually themed non-educational programming on television during certain hours. In the case of those apparatuses equipped with technical capability for blocking signals, the bill authorizes MTRCB and NTC to jointly prescribe the rules of transmission.

As studies of the American Medical Association show, there are adverse effects of televised violence on child development or a marked increase in the level of aggressive behaviour among children who view it. This was based on the May 1999 Report of the Henry Frank Guggenheim Foundation in the US where it found that there is an irrefutable connection between the amount violence depicted in the television programs watched by children and increased aggression among them.

Inasmuch as P.D. 1986 that created the Movie and Television Review and Classification Board does not authorize the same to prescribe ratings for violence and non-educational sexual themes in TV programming and rules for signals containing specifications for blocking violent and sexually themed non-educational programming in apparatuses with such technical capability and neither does R.A. 7925 (also known as the Public Telecommunications Policy Act of the Philippines) give such authority to the NTC for broadcast operations of public communications entities, this proposed measure intends to address this limitation.

Passage of this bill is thus most earnestly sought.
