EXPLANATORY NOTE

There is an urgent call for a law to call forth public awareness about the dangers of leaving unattended inside motor vehicles. The deaths and injuries caused by leaving children unattended in motor vehicles are predictable and preventable. These injuries and deaths were caused by heat stroke, a motor vehicle being put in motion by a child, children choking while alone in a car, being kidnapped, toxic fumes, activation of automatic power controls, or being trapped in car trunks. We leave children unaccompanied in motor vehicles every day for a variety of reasons, not knowing of the risks associated with leaving them alone. Once a child gets into a vehicle, they often do not have the developmental skills to get themselves out again.

Accordingly, through legislation and education the practice of leaving children unattended vehicles can be greatly reduced with increased awareness and understanding of the risks associated with this dangerous practice. Children in no way should be left unattended inside motor vehicles.

Immediate passage of this bill is highly needed.
