SEVENTEENTH CONGRESS
First Regular Session

HOUSE BILL NO. 3692

Introduced by Rep. Winston "Winnie" Castelo

EXPLANATORY NOTE

If workers or employees were to really enjoy full and maximum benefits, it should be especially so when they suffer from work-related permanent disabilities if not work-related deaths.

This way, the Social Security System in the case of private sector employees and the Government Service Insurance System in the case of government workers can help provide workers or employees with more benefits without requiring additional premium contributions from them or their employers.

Indeed, workers or employees in either private companies or government agencies should be protected and the State should truly recognize this need through a rational benefit structure that will not compromise the financial viability of either the SSS or the GSIS.

This bill intends to translate in terms of a generous increase in monthly benefits of thirty (30) percent to pensioners who suffered from work-related permanent disabilities or work-related deaths in order to ease their families of financial burdens or inflationary pressures owing to their impairment or death.

Hence, the passage of this bill to benefit private as well as government employees is earnestly prayed for.

A large, stylized handwritten signature in black ink, which appears to be "Winnie Castelo", is written over the printed name "WINNIE CASTELO". The signature is enclosed within a large, hand-drawn oval.
