AN ACT
CONVERTING THE EXTENSION CAMPUSES OF THE DON HONORIO VENTURA
STATE UNIVERSITY INTO SATELLITE CAMPUSES IN THE MUNICIPALITIES OF STA. RITA, FLORIDA BLANCA, GUAGUA, LUBAO, AND SASMUAN, ALL IN THE PROVINCE OF PAMPANGA, APPROPRIATING FUNDS
THEREFOR, AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The establishment of extension/ satellite campuses in various districts of the Province of Pampanga is one of the commitments of the Don Honorio Ventura State University (DHVSU) as prescribed by the Commission on Higher Education (CHED) and required by the Senate Committee on Education, Culture and Arts during the deliberations for the conversion of the college into a state university.

Satellite campuses are often established by universities to serve the educational needs of a more distant community. They provide higher educational opportunities for students who would otherwise not have access to tertiary education.

DHVSU fully supports the national government's commitment that puts education as the central strategy for investing in the Filipino people, reducing poverty and building national competitiveness.

To ensure that quality higher education is accessible to all who seek it, particularly those who may not be able to afford it, DHVSU has established extension campuses in the Municipalities of Sto. Tomas, Porac, and Lubao.

Each Local Government Units in the said municipalities provide the amount of Three Million Pesos (Php 3,000,000.00) by way of continuing appropriation in its annual budget and grants this to DHVSU, to cover personnel service payments and expenses relating to the operation of the Extension Campus such as for utilities, renovation and improvement of facilities, and other related expenditures. They likewise provide the requisite funding for the construction of academic buildings and support facilities; for the development of the site including its road network, perimeter fence and utilities; for instructional and laboratory facilities of various course offerings and for expenditures for needed equipment, tools, supplies, materials, books, furniture and fixtures.

On August 29, 2019, the DHVSU signed Memorandum of Agreements with the Municipalities of Apalit and Candaba for the establishment of extension campuses in the said localities.

State Universities and Colleges (SUCs), such as DHVSU, remain as the institutions of choice of poor but deserving students because of free tuition, proximity to their homes, and the high quality of program offerings. As public institutions charged with responding to the education and development needs of their respective provinces, upgrading the SUCs' capability to continuously deliver quality education is an absolute imperative.

The conversion of the DHVSU extension units into satellite campuses will guarantee appropriate budgetary support from the annual General Appropriations Act (GAA). This will enable the satellite campuses to acquire their own infrastructure, laboratory equipment and other vital facilities, and improve the quality of instruction through the hiring of highly qualified faculty, thereby heightening their significance and responsiveness.

At the macro level, every satellite campus will be a chief factor in building human capital to spur creativity and productivity, generating new knowledge, engendering innovations for human development, and driving economic growth and global competitiveness.

At the micro level, these campuses will help enhance the career and life choices and opportunities of individuals, produce persons with praiseworthy values, and be the springboards of graduates with the competency to fully engage in the world of work, and live meaningfully in today's complex world.

Most importantly, these satellite campuses will contribute constructively to the government's fundamental strategy to fight poverty and foster national competitiveness by accomplishing the mission of lifting economically and socially marginalized Filipinos out of indigence.
