House Bill No. 1000

Introduced by Representative Michael L. Romero

EXPLANATORY NOTE

It is a declared policy of the state under Republic Act No. 10000, otherwise known as the Agri-Agra Reform Credit Act of 2009 "to promote equal access to opportunities under an environment of sustained growth and expanding productivity as the key to raising the quality of life for all. Towards this end, the State shall promote rural development by enhancing access of the rural agricultural sector to financial services and programs that increase market efficiency and promote modernization in the rural agricultural sector".

Section 6 of the said law provides that "all banking institutions, whether government or private, shall set aside at least twenty-five percent (25%) of their total loanable funds for agriculture and fisheries credit in general, of which at least ten percent (10%) of the loanable funds shall be made available for agrarian reform beneficiaries mentioned in Section 5 hereof". Unfortunately, records from the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) show that the combined loanable allocations of all banking institutions for agriculture sector and agrarian reform beneficiaries since the effectivity of the act is way below the mandated threshold.

The noble objective of the law is thwarted by the unwillingness of most banking institutions to assume the perceived risk to otherwise qualified borrowers and instead opted to pay the penalties as provided for in section 10 of the said act. While we recognize the inherent right of financial institutions to implement what they consider as sound fiscal/lending policy, they have equal duties to obey, in utmost good faith, the mandates of the law rather than deciding to pay the penalties for non-compliance thereof.

The qualified credit beneficiaries from the agricultural and fisheries sector have not been able to fully use the credit services provided by the banks and other Accredited Rural Financial Institutions as mandated by law, because such banks and other lending institutions have imposed strict requirements and high standards on the borrowers' ability to pay off their loans, thus making it difficult for them to obtain the necessary credit. In so doing, not only has the twenty-five percent (25%) of the supposed to be total loanable funds for agriculture and fisheries credit in general have not been made attainable but the net effect is that it has severely hampered the agricultural and fisheries development in the rural sector.

This proposed act is not aimed at penalizing the banking institutions but to encourage them to dig deep into their financial ingenuity to come up with alternative or special credit programs for those usually coming from the marginal sectors.

Approval of this bill is therefore sought.
