House Bill No. 2251

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The National Irrigation Administration (NIA) is a government- owned and controlled corporation primarily responsible for irrigation development and management services in the Philippines. Its functions include the planning, designing, construction, and improvement of all types of irrigation projects. It is also tasked to operate, maintain, and administer all national irrigation systems.

NIA's Charter allows the charging of Irrigation Service Fees or ISFs in exchange for providing irrigation to farmers, depending on the size of their farmlands. The ISFs were abolished by then President Joseph E. Estrada when he delivered his first State of the Nation Address in 1998 but were reinstated when NIA sought the adoption of a socialized irrigation fee system, as mandated by Administrative Order No.17 of August 1998. The ISFs are intermittently suspended, especially in times of calamities when it was unreasonable to impose additional fees on farmers.

However, there is a need to revisit the status quo. Irrigation is a very basic governmental function that can very easily be shouldered by the State. It does not have to be passed on to farmers. Considering that it is a key factor in increasing substantial agricultural productivity, requiring the State to subsidize it will definitely bring a long way in ensuring adequate food supply and the early recovery of the principal means of livelihood of people in disaster-hit and poverty-stricken areas.

Corollary to this, the Constitution provides for an equitable distribution of opportunities, income, wealth and a sustained increase in the amount of goods and services produced by the nation for the benefit of the people; and an expanding productivity as the key to raising the quality of life for all, especially the under-privileged.

Thus, this bill is filed with the intention to revoke the irrigation service fees (ISFs) and to make irrigation services free for all farmers.

The early passage of this bill is earnestly requested.
