House Bill No. _____

Introduced by Representative Gabriel H. Bordado, Jr.

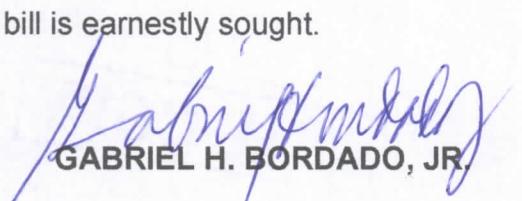

Explanatory Note

The agriculture industry plays a huge role in contributing to both the economy and the food security of the Philippines. The industry is made up of four sectors – farming, fisheries, livestock, and forestry – and together, these sectors make up 39.8 percent of the total labor force of the country. Major products produced and exported to different countries include rice, corn, coconut, sugarcane, bananas, pineapple, coffee, mangoes, tobacco, and abaca. The agriculture industry contributes up to twenty percent of the country's GDP. However, due to different issues like the continuous damage to the world's natural resources and conversion of agricultural land into residential and commercial areas, the agriculture industry and, in turn, the food security of the country are currently being challenged despite the industry's sizeable contribution to the country. It is because of these challenges that it becomes pertinent to seek ways to improve and develop agriculture in the country.

With the sizeable contribution of the agriculture industry to the economic growth and food security of the country, it is important that we aid the modernization of the agriculture processes and ensure that professionals in the industry are well equipped with skills and the knowledge to be globally competitive. The Professional Regulation Commission created the Board of Agriculture in pursuant of the policies and objectives of the Agriculture and Fisheries Modernization Act of 1997 in order to oversee the licensing and regulation of the practice of agriculture and to ensure that importance is given to the professionalization of the agriculture profession. However, the regulation of the practice of agriculture still currently faces numerous issues and concerns.

This bill seeks to put at par agriculture with other professions such as accounting, engineering, food technology, and forestry to name a few, by regulating its practice thereby ensuring the continuing professional development of agriculture workers.

In view of the foregoing, the passage of the bill is earnestly sought.
