EIGHTEENTH CONGRESS
First Regular Session

HOUSE BILL NO. 0604

Introduced by HONORABLE RESURRECCION MARRERO-ACOP, MD

EXPLANATORY NOTE

According to the Journal of Geriatric Oncology, “*The aging of the population is a global challenge. The number of older adults is rapidly growing, leading to an increase in the prevalence of noncommunicable diseases associated with aging*¹.¹ Furthermore, the majority of older adults live in developing countries like the Philippines, where health systems are generally ill-equipped to provide care for complex chronic conditions. Worldwide, as in our country, “*there is paucity of geriatric training, and most of the gerontology workforce lacks the skills and knowledge to provide comprehensive care for older patients. Various initiatives aimed at providing adequate clinical care for older adults, increasing the geriatric skills and knowledge of healthcare professionals, and developing geriatric oncology research, have been successfully implemented, but these have taken place mostly in high-income countries, and there are still large inequalities in the availability of clinical, educational, and research initiatives across different regions of the world*² – chief among them in Asia and the Philippines.

This bill seeks to convert the National Center for Geriatric Health (NCGH) into a corporate body which will provide a full range of health care services, including primary care, wellness services, and behavioral health care; aside from promoting innovative research on ageing’s social and biological causes and concomitants and how best to intervene in illnesses associated with the ageing process; as well as providing educational programs for the public, to health care professionals, and to the elderly population of the country.

Section 11, Article XIII of the 1987 Constitution provides, in part, that “The State shall adopt an integral and comprehensive approach to health development which shall endeavor to make essential goods, health and other social services available to all the people at affordable cost. There shall be priority for the needs of the underprivileged sick, elderly, disabled, women, and children.”

Journal of geriatric oncology, 8(5), pp.374-386.

² Ibid.

The absence of this particular legislation hinders the current NCGH from fulfilling its mission to become a full-fledged geriatric hospital that caters to the elderly. As a full-fledged hospital and research center, it will be the health center for senior citizens, where there will be intensive care units (ICUs), multi-disciplinary geriatrics practice, rehabilitation services, etc. The hospital has yet to achieve the vision to be the country's first geriatric center, as it has limited capabilities and cannot admit patients with complex cases.

The rejuvenation of the NCGH is long overdue considering the continuing increase in our country's population of people aged sixty and above. As a tribute to our country's elderly citizens, having served and contributed to the society in the prime of their life, it is only fitting to establish a health and research facility which will primarily provide geriatric health services.

In view of forgoing considerations, approval of this bill is earnestly sought.
