First Regular Session

House Bill No. 3490

Introduced by Representative John Marvin "Yul Servo" C. Nieto

EXPLANATORY NOTE

As a manifestation of support to this timely piece of legislation, this representation respectfully refiles this bill, which has constantly been receiving support from the senate and the past and present Congress.

20 During the 17th Congress, the Committees on Government Reorganization
21 and National Defense and Security of the House of Representative approved 22 the bill creating the Department of Disaster Resilience (DDR).

24 This proposed act is a manifestation of the country's immediate need for a 25 better state of preparedness during times of natural calamities. The 26 destruction of the past typhoons could have been minimized further if we 27 were better equipped with the resources to respond more efficiently during 28 times of natural disasters.

30 This measure seeks to establish the Department of Disaster Resilience that 31 will be mandated to create and implement policies and programs that aims 32 to reduce risk, educate the country in terms of disaster preparedness and 33 response, and introduce various recovery and rehabilitation systems. It is 34 the hope of this representation that this bill benefits the whole nation 35 towards the development of better strategies during times of disaster, 36 ultimately, improving the country's overall resilience.

38 In view of the foregoing, the immediate passage of this bill is earnestly 39 sought.

550 to the comprehensive, all hazards, multi-sectoral, inter-agency and

554 be formulated by the National Disaster Resilience Council (NDRC) and 555 implemented by the Authority that sets out goals and specific 556 objectives for reducing disaster risks together with related actions to 557 accomplish these objectives. The NDRP shall provide for the 558 identification of hazards, vulnerabilities, and risks to be managed at 559 the national level; disaster risk reduction and management approaches 560 and strategies to be applied in managing said hazards and risks;
561 agency roles, responsibilities and lines of authority at all government
562 levels; and vertical and horizontal coordination of disaster risk

575 shared and built-on by anyone, anywhere, for any purpose. These 576 must be available in bulk, should be available free of charge, or at 577 least at no more than a reasonable reproduction cost. The information 578 should be digital, preferably available by downloading through the 579 internet, and easily processed by a computer. These must permit 580 people to use, reuse, and redistribute, intermix with other data 581 providers. These do not allow conditions to be placed on how people 582 can use Open Data, but permit a data provider to require that data 583 users credit them in some appropriate way, clarify if the data have 584 been changed, or that new datasets created using their data are also 585 shared as open data.

586 x. Persons with Disabilities refer to individuals who have long-term

590 y. Pre-Disaster Risk Assessment refers to a process to evaluate a 591 hazard's level of risk given the degree of exposure and vulnerability in 592 a specific area. likely to be affected by an imminent hazard. It presents 593 the possible impacts on the population and provides a basis to 594 determine the appropriate level of response actions of government

609 organizational capacity.

610 dd. Resilience refers to the ability of a system, community or society 611 exposed to hazards to resist, absorb, adapt to, transform, 612 accommodate, and recover from the effects of a hazard in a timely and vulnerability that together could potentially han exposed people, property, services, livelihood and the environment on which they depend.

gg. Probabilistic Risk Assessment refers to the simulation of those future disasters based on scientific evidence, which are likely to occur. As a result, these risk assessments resolve the problem posed by the limits of historical data. Probabilistic models "complete" historical records by reproducing the physics of the phenomena and recreating the intensity of a large number of synthetic events. Probabilistic Risk Assessment considers all possible scenarios, their likelihood, and associated impacts. It is characterized by inherent uncertainties partly related to the natural randomness of hazards, and partly because of incomplete understanding and measurement of the hazards, exposure, and vulnerability.

hh. Deterministic Risk Assessment refers to an assessment that considers the possible disaster impacts of a single scenario. This is in contrast to probabilistic risk assessment which considers all possible scenarios, their likelihood, and associated impacts.

ii. Risk Transfer refers to the process of formally or informally shifting the financial consequences of particular risks from one party to another whereby a household, community, enterprise, or state authority will obtain resources from the other party after a disaster occurs, in exchange for ongoing or compensatory social or financial benefits provided to that other party.
