HOUSE BILL NO. 3373

Introduced by Representative Sharon S. Garin

---

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Bamboo's prominence in the country is evidenced in its prevalence and our geographical landscape and significance to our culture. Whether in urban or in countryside, bamboo trees dot the landscape, taking root not only in our environment but also in our heritage through the "Alamat ng Kawayan" and the most popular and well-known Philippine traditional tinikling dance. Truly, bamboo is germane to our national character as a country.

But apart from its cultural significance, bamboo presents essential economic opportunities and environmental protection for the country. The grass of life, as it is often tagged, can breathe life into the economic engines of the countryside if developed into a booming industry. Its versatility enables it to be transformed as wood substitute for furniture or construction materials, industrial and paper products, or as food, paving the way for a wide variety of markets. Thus, bamboo products, both raw and processed, have an untapped market that could propel the bamboo industry into one of the biggest agro-forest industries in the country.

Taking an even more literal meaning, the grass of life helps people live in a cleaner and safer environment by mitigating deforestation, preventing soil degradation, and Acting as carbon sink. And in a changing climactic condition and its adverse impacts on life and property, bamboo's propagation could spell the difference between life and death.

However, bamboo remains to be one of the underdeveloped industries in the country despite its versatility, economic potentials, and environmental contributions. At present, we have yet to fully support bamboo farmers, producers, processors, and exporters with concrete policy Actions and fiscal incentives to sustain the bamboo enterprises that they have started or to entice investors to go into the bamboo industry.

It is, thus, the aim of the bill to promote the rapid, steady and continuous integrated development and growth of the Philippine bamboo industry, recognizing the bamboo's salient role as a strategic, indigenous, replenishable, and renewable source of livelihood and tool for agricultural productivity and environmental protection and management.

Through this measure, the scientific propagation, processing, utilization, and business development of Philippine bamboo will be made a priority program through the Philippine Bamboo Framework for Development. The components of the development plan include:

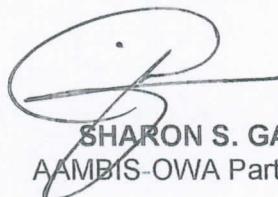

- Site identification
- Scientific Propagation and Development
- Production Support and Extension
- Market Promotion and Business Development
- Infrastructure Development
- Quality Assurance for Health and Proper Trading

The bill also mandates the Department of Environment and Natural Resources (DENR) to use bamboo as planting material for at least twenty percent (20%) of its annual reforestation and rehabilitation programs.

Furthermore, the bill mandates the Department of Education (DepEd) to procure at least twenty five percent (25%) of its annual school desk and/or armchair requirements for public elementary and secondary schools nationwide with the use of Philippine Bamboo.

The Department of Labor and Employment (DOLE) is likewise mandated to implement bamboo livelihood programs for preference employment of special groups and organizations of persons with disabilities (PWD), marginalized sectors, the unemployed, and retrenched Overseas Filipino Workers (OFWs).

Should this measure be enacted, it would provide the policy underpinning for the development and growth of the bamboo industry; hence the passage of this measure is earnestly sought.
