EXPLANATORY NOTE

Under the recently enacted Republic Act No. 9829, otherwise known as the Pre-Need Code of the Philippines, "Pre-need plans" are contracts, agreements, deeds or plans for the benefit of the planholders which provide for the performance of future service/s, payment of monetary considerations or delivery of other benefits at the time of actual need or agreed maturity date, as specified therein, in exchange for cash or installment amounts with or without interest or insurance coverage and includes life, pension, education, interment and other plans, instruments, contracts or deeds as may in the future be determined by the Commission.

For the ordinary consumers, pre-need plans refer mostly to the educational plans which they obtain for their children. The most notorious of these plans were the "anti-inflation" plans, which allow planholders to pay at present day cost, the usually expensive private college education, but for utilization only when their children go to college, at a much later time.

This "anti-inflation" plans were later on deemed to be not feasible. The simplest explanation was that there was something inherently wrong with the actuarial assumptions and computations on such type of pre-need plans.

But this after it victimized, thousands, if not hundreds of thousands, of planholders.

It was perceived to be the culprit behind the fall of giant pre-need companies, who were no longer able to sustain the payment of their beneficiaries. However, it was soon found out the unsound business practices or even malpractices of the pre-need companies were equally to blame. After several pre-need companies caused the suffering of countless numbers of families, stifled their dreams, and downright murdered the inherent right of their children to a better education and future, not a single pre-need company, owner, executive, officer, or responsible person, has been punished.

Very recently, in September 2009, Congress enacted R. A. 9829 or the Pre-Need Code. The passage of this law was deemed as the solution to all of the ills and catastrophes brought about by this problematic industry.

Very recently, as if there is no end to pre-need tragedies, the case of Loyola Plans surfaced.

More than 89,000 plan holders were adversely affected after the financial troubles suffered by Loyola Plans Consolidated. According to the Insurance Commission, the pre-need company's memorial plans alone have about 53,000 holders, 23,000 others hold pension plans, while 12,000 have educational plans. Investigations showed Loyola lacks funds to pay its customers. The shortfall — P230 million.

Assuming that the planholders would have recourse under the Pre-Need Code, this law would not give them the justice that they needed. A mere perusal of its enumerated criminal offenses would reveal that it provides very light penalties for very grave offenses. The only offenses punishable under Section 54 of the said Code are: a) selling or offering to sell, a pre-need plan by unregistered persons; b) an unregistered pre-need plan; c), a pre-need plan by means of false or misleading representation and other fraudulent means; d) committing any negligent act or omission prejudicial or injurious to the planholder; e) any other fraudulent act or omission. These are offenses penalized by imprisonment ranging from only one (1) year to a maximum of six (6) years only.

Moreover, the law places to the discretion of the court, the imposition of the penalty against the officer or officers if a "juridical entity" is responsible for the violation. This is even if an offense under the Code would surely be done by a juridical entity because only corporations are allowed to operate as a pre-need company.

Most important, the law does not also provide for the appropriate grave penalty if it the offense is committed again on massive scale.

What if another College Assurance Plan, Pacific Education Plan, Legacy, Prudentiallife or Loyola pre-need disaster occurs?

Surely, even under the Pre-Need Code, no person shall be aptly penalized for such a dreadful offense.

Under this proposed measure, the Pre-Need Code would be amended to include the offense of economic sabotage by selling pre need plans by means of false or misleading representation and other fraudulent means, when it is committed by a syndicate or in large scale.

It shall be deemed committed by a syndicate if carried out by a group of three (3) or more persons conspiring or confederating with one another. It is committed in large scale if committed against five (5) or more persons individually or as a group.

It will be considered as a non-bailable capital offense. Thus not only would the offender be meted by life imprisonment if found guilty, a mere finding of prima facie evidence during preliminary investigation would already land the offender in jail.

And, selling a fraudulent pre-need plan would be very easy to prove. Under this measure, the failure of a pre-need company to pay for the benefits under the pre-need plan after its maturity, for any reason whatsoever, whether or not under a plan that is approved by the IC, shall constitute prima facie evidence of false, misleading representation or fraud.

The owners, executives and officers of the large corporate pre-need companies can no longer be reckless because they would also be held criminally liable. This is as along as they are officers having control, management or direction of the pre-need company.

Finally, the IC, cannot also collude with the pre-need companies to approve pre-need plans that are inherently defective. This is because if the beneficiaries cannot be paid are under a pre-need plan of a company that is approved by the Commission, and such complainants number more than thirty percent (30%) of all the beneficiaries or maturing planholders of the pre-need company, the officers of the Commission responsible for the approval of the said pre-need plan, shall be held liable for negligence or omission under Paragraph d) of Section 54.

These pre-need companies have long run amok and committed not just grave crimes against their thousands of planholders, but economic sabotage against the State. It is high time to write finis to this.

It is in this view that the immediate passage of the bill is earnestly sought.
